DETAILED ACTION

Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-4 and 7-18, drawn to a method of treating an animal having depression, a condition that results in depression, or a similar condition, comprising administering to the animal a composition comprising hydrocortisone and a delivery vehicle, wherein said delivery vehicle provides for delayed and sustained release of hydrocortisone.

Group II, claim(s) 19-21, and 25-27, drawn to a method of inhibiting side effects due to administration of glucocorticoid, comprising administering to animal a composition comprising a glucocorticoid and a delivery vehicle, wherein said delivery vehicle provides for delayed and sustained release of glucocorticoid.

Group III, claim(s) 31, drawn to a method of restoring and entraining an endogenous circadian rhythm of cortisol in an animal having a condition that does not result from cortisol deficiency but is a consequence of a disruption in the normal circadian secretion of cortisol, comprising administering to the animal a combined composition comprising hydrocortisone and a delivery vehicle, wherein said delivery vehicle provides for delayed and sustained release of hydrocortisone.

The inventions listed as Groups I, II and III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the common technical feature in all groups is a composition containing as an active ingredient hydrocortisone. This element cannot be a special technical feature under PCT rule 13.2 because the element is shown in the prior art. For example: DeBatista et. al. (Am. J. Psychiatry (2000) 157:1334-1337, cited by applicant), describe the compound: hydrocortisone (see title).

Elections

Election for Group I

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows: depression, a condition that results in depression or a similar condition. If applicant elects a condition that results in depression, applicant must further elect among the conditions listed in claim 2.

Art Unit: 1612

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The following claim(s) are generic: 1-19.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the disclosed diseases (anxiety, alcohol addiction, etc.) can have different stages of progression and require different types of treatment.

Election for Group II

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

Art Unit: 1612

The species are as follows: glucocorticoids listed in claim 20. Electing a compound that is not specifically disclosed as filed may be considered new matter.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The following claim(s) are generic: 19-21, and 25-27.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: they are structurally different compounds, that could belong to different classes and sub-classes and require different search queries.

Inventorship Notice

Art Unit: 1612

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
